VOL. 102, NO. 21 CAMERON, MILAM COUNTY TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1961 12 PAGES TODAY

1,650 Students Set For '61 School Year

Project Due Vote Sept. 23

Watershed Poses Savings Prospects In Land, Runoff

Voters in the Elm Creek Watershed will vote September 23 on the adoption of a $100,000 bond issue to pave the way for construction of $5.5 millions in floodwater retarding dams.

A $200,000 issue was considered by voters in Bell, Milam and a small portion of McLennan County last year and was turned down by only 23 votes.

Officials of the eight - man Watershed board point out a number of major benefits which may not have been apparent in 1960.

Approval of the bond issue would clear the way for construction of 60 dams, planned to control watershed erosion, crop and road damage in an area extending northwest from Cameron to a point north of Troy in McLennan County.

About one - third of the watershed and dams would be built along Elm Creek and tributaries in Milam County.

Major benefits along the Watershed would include:

ONE - An estimated $340,000 savings in crop damage, erosion and sediment damage to Central Texas Farmers.

TWO — Reduction of flood and siltation hazards on 20,000 acres of land each year.

THREE — Providing a water supply for farm use and irrigation.

FOUR — Higher land values in the Watershed and additional recreation sites for hunting, fishing and camping.

FIVE — Establishment of a permanent and balanced agriculture by returning idle land to production in cash crops, raising production on corn, in an example cited by Watershed officials, where irrigated corn produced up to 197 bushels per acre.

Watershed directors point out that 25 miles of Elm Creek channel will be straightened and improved in addition to construction of the 60 dams.

And the $5.5 millions spent in federal funds will provide permanent facilities for farm use, fishing, hunting, boating and irrigation.

Watershed officials are proposing the $100,000 bond issue based on 25 cents per $100 valuation. When the new tax is voted, the present 10 - cent tax becomes void.

Twenty - one Watershed dams would be built in the Milam County end of the project. Structures would control water flow along South Elm, Big Elm Creek, Cow Creek and North Elm.

Directors of Elm Creek Watershed are: K. D. Buster Griffin, chairman, Yarrelton; Jim Reddin, vice - president, Troy; E. A. Perrin, secretary, Cameron; Edwin Smith, treasurer, Rogers; David Haggard, Rt. 4, Temple; A. A. Stavinoha, Temple; Frank Maruna, Temple and A. C. Akridge, Troy.

This Is 102 With FML

We witnessed the Boy Scout swim contest the other night. It was impressive to see several hundred adults attend the contest at the Cameron Pool.

It sets one to thinking of the growing list of advantages accuring to residents of Cameron. Consider the swimming meet.

Here were dozens of Boy Scouts from two counties having a grand time in Cameron's pool. Just across the way was the Saddle Club's show arena.

Just beginning is a new bowling season at Cameron Bowling Lanes where officials are expecting a record number of teams this year.

There are a lot of activities centering in Cameron for residents of Cameron and Milam County. But this list of activities for youngsters and adults alike constitutes a major advantage for Milam County's seat.

When Cameron's library building program takes shape, an additional facility will be added to the list.

102 - 102 - 102

It's a gradual process to develop these facilities. But isn't it worth the effort when you see hundreds of people come to Cameron to use those facilities we sometimes take for granted.

Council Reviews Paving Program

Cameron City Councilmen Tuesday scheduled a preliminary budget study session next week and heard reports on completion of E. 11th St. paving and contact for paving E. Gillis St.

In an hour - long meeting, Mayor Coleman Duncum asked Public Works Supt. J. B. Earle to survey how many property owners wanted paving on E. Gillis St. Duncum said the project would be a non - participating job for the city and the property owners could decide whether they wanted as single penetration surface or whatever surface they would pay for.

Earle noted that work had been completed on about two blocks of new asphalt paving and curbing on E. 11th St. City equipment was used to grade and level the street and a Temple paving concern put down the asphalt.

In other business, the Council approved routine bills and called for drawing up specifications for bids on a 1962 police car, to replace the 1959 model.

Duncum said the "city is ready to go" on paving E. Gillis St. when property owners decide exactly what type of surface they want.

He noted that the city is following a policy of paving streets where property owners are willing to co - operate with the city on paving and curbing streets. Curbing is contracted for by individual property owners, but city officials have boosted a policy of curbing wherever new paving is laid.

Earlier in the meeting, the Council approved the same $1.60 per $100 valuation for the 1961-62 fiscal year. The tax rate is the same established in 1949, records show. Bonded indebtedness through 1960 is $921,000 on a valuation of $5,238,965.

In final action, Council approval was voted on a routine transfer of general funds of $465 to cover bills due in depleted special accounts.

Vote Set Aug. 24 On Wheat Output In Milam County

A wheat marketing referendum is scheduled for the few Milam County wheat farmers Thursday, August 24.

Farmers producing more than 13.5 acres of wheat during 1959, 1960, 1961 are eligible to vote in the quota referendum, according to Alva Sanders, manager of the Milam Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office.

The ASC office in Cameron will be the voting center for the referendum. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Alternatives being voted on are:

APPROVAL -- Wheat marketing quotas for 1962 will be stabilized by a complete program of price support and payments to producers for taking wheat acreage out of production.

DISAPPROVAL -- No wheat stabilization program will be conducted for 1962 with no limit on marketing and price supports would be at a rate of 50 per cent of parity to co - operators.

A two - thirds majority must vote for the wheat program to put it into effect.

A "yes" vote will peg the price at $2 per bushel or about 84 per cent of parity, but a mandatory cut of 10 per cent in production with future reductions possible.

If farmers vote "no," the price support will be $1.19 per bushel or 50 per cent of parity for production planted within acreage allotments. And there will be no limit on marketings.

An Asset To Cameron

Country Club Remodeling Begins On Clubhouse

Cameron Country Club, one of the historic clubs in Central Texas, is conducting a remodeling program on the Clubhouse and recreation facilities.

Reorganized after World War II as a golf club, the 125-member organization is undertaking a long-range improvement drive.

First of a series of improvements announced by club officials is the opening of a small, air - conditioned diningroom, the Mallard Room, for use of small groups of members and guests. It is being operated in addition to the main diningroom according to Charlie Burke, Club president.

Also recently opened was a new dressing room for ladies on the pool side of the Clubhouse.

And the Clubs nine - hole golf course, rated by Central Texans as one of the area's finest, will have new fairway, tee and distance markers when work is completed.

Other facilities include the ballroom, snack bar and golf shop, lounge area and swimming pool.

Club officials report that near record numbers of golfers are playing the CCC course this year, including an active group of Cameron women golfers.

Improvements on the course, a par 70 adventure of rolling hills and water hazards, have included closer care of the greens and fairways and strengthening of the Club's lake dam.

But much of the effort is being directed toward the CCC clubhouse, a low rambling, white frame structure that replaced the more elaborate two - story building that burned years ago. The old clubhouse was a two - story structure of Southern architecture.

The house committee, headed by Hilliard Thomas, has directed the reconditioning of porch chairs, installation of a new television set, and ceiling and floor improvements in the golf shop area.

"These are only a part of the long - range plan for redoing the interior of the Clubhouse," Thomas pointed out.

Burke cited the current work of special committees headed by: Dr. C. G. Swift, tournaments; Lee Marek, Jr., greens committee; Dr. George Bowman, swimming pool; Frank Perrin, lake chairman; and John Henderson, Jr., activities chairman.

And he commended leadership of the officers and directors of the Cameron Club: vice - president, Dr. Bowman; secretary, Albert Collins; and assistant secretary, Jack DuBois; and directors, Dr. Swift, W. C. Wallace, Marek, Earl Curtis, Henry Siebman, James Wiggs and Thomas.

Aware of the value of the Club as a community attraction as well as a social center, Burke cited membership figures showing that residents of several communities in and around Milam County enjoy its facilities. Members include residents from Rosebud, Thorndale, Caldwell, Rockdale, Cameron and other smaller towns.

With golf tournaments expanded through Dr. Swift's committee and the Cameron Golf Association and other key activities, this facility represents a cultural and social center essential to Cameron's present and future, Burke said.

In golf tournaments alone, the CCC proves Burke's statement: the 31st Men's Invitational Tournament attracted 150 Cen - Tex golfers to the Cameron links; the Women's Golf Association hosted 92 women golfers from throughout Central Texas this spring.

"It's a well - rounded center we hope to develop," Burke opined, "and the list of improvements and activities already completed show we're headed in the right direction."

Club activities centering around the swimming pool and ballroom include membership fish frys, family barbecues, holiday dances and functions of a varied nature at least once a month.

It is one of Cameron's many assets.

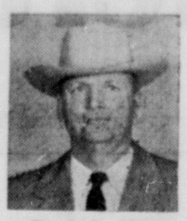
County Agents Notes

Cotton Poisoning Guides Available



By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agent

The new cotton defoliation guides are available at the County Agents office. Most farmers will use Arsenic Acid at the rate of 1½ to 2 quarts per acre for stripper harvest this year. A news letter from Fred Elliott, cotton work specialist this week announced that Penta would be approved as of August 10.

WHEN TO APPLY DEFOLIANTS: Pentachlerophenol and Arsenic Acid are both desiccants rather than true defoliants. Because of their severe action on plant tissues, they should not be used on immature cotton. Use only when bolls are fully mature and cotton is over 60 per cent open.

Destroy Maize Stalks Early

Destroy Maize stalks early by shredding and plowing out the row to prevent further plant growth. This cuts down on further depletion of soil nutrients.

To condition the maize stubble for next year's crop, 100 lbs. of ammonium nitrate per acre disc into the stubble will help. The Milam County 7-Step Cotton committee finds that by adding nitrogen in the fall to maize stubble plus the addition of 200 pounds of 16 - 30 - 0 fertilizer placed in the beds before planting a cotton crop the following spring, assures normal expected yields.

Deep plowing to prevent cotton rootrot -- The plowing out of maize stubble during the summer months offers an opportunity for deep-plowing the land to cut down the cotton root rot disease.

SEED OATS TO BE SCARCE-Good seed oats for fall planting should be located now. The McGregor Experiment Station is offering Foundation new Nortex seed oats at $3.00 per bushel F. O. B. McGregor.

This column says welcome to the Ellis Family and their new Dairy operations. They are now living on the farm just south of town formerly owned by M. J. Sparks. Because of our available land and favorable location, Milam County is in a favorable position to gain valuable new resources. Our citizens are urged to be aware of this situation.

Test Soils Now For Fall Crops

COLLEGE STATION — During the months of May and June, Texas farmers submitted 1,149 soil samples to the Agricultural Extension Service Soil Testing Laboratories, reports William F. Bennett extension soil chemist. The largest number of samples was submitted to the laboratory at College Station, the second highest to the High Plains laboratory and the least to the Baylor County lab.

Bennett points out that the Extension Service maintains these laboratories for Texas farmers to use in determining their fertilizer and limestone needs. Even though soil tests have some limitations in determining fertilizer needs, Bennett says the $2.00 spent on a soil test is the most important money spent in a fertilier program.

The chemist closes by saying that farmers who are planning fall crops should submit their soil receiving the analysis in time to apply the needed fertilizer.

Burlington Classes Begin September 1st

The Burlington Public School will open for classes September 1, with Mrs. J. D. Martin as head - teacher and Mrs. Gus Plentl, primary - teacher.

Mrs. Marie Schonhoeft will be in charge of the lunchroom and Terrell Prescott will serve as busdriver.

Approximately thirty - five students will make up the six grades to be taught. All beginners are asked to bring their birth certificates with them the first day.

FARM ACCIDENTS

Farm accidents usually are in proportion to farm and ranch activities. The harvest season is on and the tempo of farm activities ois on the increase.

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Oily black clouds were boiling across the sky, intermittantly spitting rain.

Barreling out of the south were winds at 30 miles per hour with occasional gusts hitting 35.

When the small - craft warnings fly on the Texas coast, it means that boats less than 50 or 60 feet in length should stay in port. But it doesn't mean that fishing is also out. In fact, the wade fishermen can make some outstanding catches under such weather conditions.

Strong southerly or easterly winds over a period of time can build up some unusually high tides in many of the coastal bays. Most of these bays have a number of small feeder bayous extending back into the salt grass flats or prairie.

When the tides stand a foot or two above the normal high, these small bayous spread out of their banks with water flooding these salt grass flats and portions of the prairie. True, the water isn't deep. Perhaps just a foot or 18 inches. But it's deep enough for fish and quite ofter you make some remarkable catches. This is particularly true of small redfish, better known to coastal inhabitants as rat reds. These are the reds that range from one pound to three or four pounds in size.

Reds have a linking for crustaceans. You'll find plenty of tiny crustaceans -- mostly snails -- clinging to the stream of the salt grass. Under normal water conditions the water might not be more than several inches in depth around these grass stands. Obviously too shallow for fish.

But on the flood tides the water is deep enough for the fish and they move right into the grass.

Often you can locate them by the "V" they make in the water. Sometimes you'll even see their tails faning and breaking the surface of the water.

Fishing for rat reds when they're feeding in the grass on flooded flats calls for an unusually stealthy approach. Since the water is so shallow, the least bit of unusual noise will spook them.

Best tackle to use is spinning gear since it is so light that tiny lures and small baits can be used.

You don't want to make an unnecessary splash with the bait hitting the water so eliminate a singer. That means you must cast with the wind.

It also means the casts will have to be comparatively long since a close approach will spook the fish.

When you locate a school of rat reds working in the flooded grass area don-t cast into the middle of the school. Drop your bait ahead of the fish and let the school work to it.

Don't figure on catching more than a couple of reds from each school. Hooked fish usually make enough commotion to cause the rest of the school to scramble for deeper water.

Now for the bait. For natural baits, use small shrimp, sand fiddlers and snails. For artificial lure use tiny gold spoons. They are deadly. And surprisingly the plastic worms that score so well on bass in fresh water also are effective on rat reds.

Fish the plastic worms the same way you do for bass. Move the worm along just an inch at a time When you feel a fish nibbling at it, stop reeling. Allow the fish to take the worm well into its mouth before attempting to set the hook.

Only a maniac would dare to fish in the teeth of a storm or hurricane, but a day or two after normal weather returns, you might try certain spots with emarkable luck.

These spots are small landlocked lakes or ponds adjacent to the bays. You'll often find some hotshot, rat - red fishing in these holes right after storm tides.

It's really no great mystery how the reds get into these landlocked holes. They move into them when the six, seven or eight - foot hurricane tides flood the countryside.

Actually the only time to fish these spots is during the first week or so after the hurricane. Fish will be there much longer, but often the water will discolor, taint and sometimes become stagnant enough to affect the flavor of the fish.

J. R. (DICK) YOUNG

Young To Leave .....

Former Principal Resigns At YHS

J. R. (Dick) Young has accepted a position as Junior High School principal in Spring, Texas, near Houston. His resignation as a classroom teacher at Yoe High School early this summer officially completed twenty years of service in the Cameron School system.

Young has resided in the Cameron area since 1927. He has been a coach 15 years, a principal 9 years and a classroom teacher 20 years since 1941.

Known throughout the state for his athletic abilities and coaching record, he prides himself just as equally on his 20 years as a teacher in YHS, "I enjoyed coaching more when I was younger and full of zip," he said, "But I've always taken a lot of pride in my classroom teaching. I sorta hoped I'd be remembered as a pretty good teacher."

He will also be remembered for his 10 years as a Yoe basketball coach, eight of those years his roundballers were district champions. As a principal under three different superintendents he compiled a list of scholastic achievements any principal in the state would be proud to match.

In 1958 he obtained the charter for the school's National Honor Society; previous to that he established a sound testing program for his high school students. The school interscholastic league literary mark during his administration is a tribute in itself to Young's success.

Originally from Texas, Young is a graduate of Centenary College in Shreveport La. where he played center on the football team. From the time he was a sophomore at Centenary to the time he graduated the school didn't lose a game in 26 matches. One of his teammates was Buddy Parker, later to be coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Upon graduation from college, he accepted a position as head coach and prinicpal of Thrall High School. He stayed there until 1937.

In '37 he came to Cameron and momentarily retired from the "school business.' It wasn't until 1941 that he started his career in the Cameron school system.

During the next 15 years he worked with Yoe coaches, L. C. Woods, Paul Smith and Leo Jackson. During these 15 years the Yoemen never ranked lower than third place in district and won 7 district championships. He has been a Cameron coach longer than any other man. Jackson and Woods both served as coach for 10 years.

He is a member of the 100 and 200 coaches clubs. Qualifications for membership is for a coach to win 100 football games and 200 basketball tilts.

Asked to select an all - star team from the gridironers he has coached the past 15 years he named these as his probable starting lineup: Backfield - Frank Torno, Bob Hayes, Howard Beale and Eddie Lankford.

Line: Robert Salach, Bob Terry, George Hollas, Robert Zotz, Eugene Salach, Bob Holloway and Joe Hawkins.

Young's main interest outside of school work is his 600 acre farm located in the Jones Prairie community. The farm was once referred to by the Herald's former filibustering editor, J. B. White, as "Young-s Broad Acres."

A lover of the outdoors, "Bull" as he was nicknamed during his college days still enjoys an occasional fishing or hunting trip. He maintains a small herd of cattle on his farm and until recently kept several horses on hand.

He is the father of three children Barbara Joe, a teacher in Wichita Falls; Margaret, a student at Baylor University; and Paul, member of the U. S. Army, now stationed in Germany.

Mrs. Young will teach in elementary school at Spring.

PICNIC WITH A PUNCH

Picnic-time is sandwich-time. With the wide variety of enriched bread and rolls and tempting new fillings, you can cater to the whole crowd. Although one might want ham and another might ask for tuna, when it comes to the beverage, everyone, 6 to 60, will enjoy the sparkling fruit punches made with frozen fruit punch concentrate. There's a quartet of fruit flavors to choose from—Strawberry-Lemon, Grape-Lemon, Raspberry-Lemon and Pineapple-Lemon.

The busy homemaker and mother welcomes the convenience, ease of preparation and wholesome freshness of the punches. They need only water and ice to make them complete. And, because they're made with fruit puree and lemon juice, the punches are a good source of vitamin C and other nutrients found in fresh fruit.

Fresh California lemon quarters give added spark to all your summer beverages, so be sure to keep a plentiful supply ready and waiting. They also add a special flavor note to the sandwich fillings.

Behold the Ant

• Science tells us that the strongest thing in the world for its size is the common red ant. This marvel of nature can lift 10 times its own weight.

As strong as the red ant may be, it has been proven that the most powerful thing for its size is the little want ad in your local newspaper.

The want ad, which costs only a few cents a day, does a hundred-fold job. This mighty mite of the printed page finds jobs for folks, sells used lawnmowers, rents houses, sells farms, loans money, finds missing persons, locates lost dogs, rents appliances, thanks folks, locates homes for surplus puppies, and performs a hundred and one useful services for the community.

Texas Medical Assn. Executive Addresses Cameron Lions Club

The Assistant Executive Secretary of the Texas Medical Association told the Cameron Lions Club Monday that the doctors of the State recognize an obligation to provide "the best possible medical care at the lowest possible cost."

Speaking before the civic group at its noon luncheon, Donald M. Anderson, Austin, presented comparisons of medical costs with those of general living costs. He also emphasized some of the positive approaches which Texas doctors are undertaking in order to provide an even higher quality of medical service.

The Assistant Executive Secretary also outlined other positive programs which have been undertaken by medical societies to improve services by physicians. Public grievance committees have been appointed by county medical societies to clarify and adjust differences and misunderstandings between patients and doctors, such as fees and the quality of medical service. The Texas Medical Association also is working hard to provide a larger and a more equitable supply and distribution of physicians, particularly in rural areas of the State.

Commenting upon federal intervention, Anderson said, "We are convinced that private, personal care is far superior -- and far less expensive -- than government medicine. We believe that the patient should have unrestricted free choice in selecting a doctor. We also believe that the doctor owes his unqualified responsibility directly to the patient and not to a fedeeral agency. It is these considerations which command our support for the philosophy of free, competitive economy."

Battle cry of the week -- "Remember the Fighting Yoemen and remember the Cameron Quarterback Club."

In other words, let's support this year's Yoemen grid team like it's never been supported before. The best way for the men to do this is through the Quarterback Club.

Percy Arthur, former Rice coach, will be guest speaker at the clubs first meeting of the year to be held Monday at 7:30 in the Yoe High School Agiruclture Building.

President Forrest Sapp has announced that new membership dues will be $5.00 per person and a renewal, $3.00.

At Monday's meeting new officers will be elected and plans made for the coming football season.

Hillman, 15, was Bate's second-line center. He is a brother to tackle, Bobby Hillman, rated as one of the Yoemen's Big Three.

Although the Yoemen are still strong contenders for district champions, everone admits, including Bates, that the loss of all - district guard Chris Gay and Hillman could mean otherwise.

The Comparison Ends . . .

No longer could the East German government tolerate the loss of the skilled and the educated among the thousands going daily to West Berlin. Walter Ulbricht, East Germany's communist chief, Sunday took his cue from Mr. Khrushchev and closed the door.

With its slamming, communism admitted defeat once again to open competition. It was a rousing defeat.

Perhaps Americans will take note. Perhaps rampant statism will pause momentarily to heed the sign.

Why did they go over to the West, these tens of thousands of East Germans? Indeed, why is East Germany's economy verging on a precipice of disaster?

When united, prior to the partition of 1945, Germany was among the most highly developed, most literate nations of the world. West Germany still progresses under the Bonn Government.

When the communist state assumed control, the East Germans, unaccustomed to such restriction, became dissident. The first of about two million went to the West years ago. In 1953 there were riots and bloodshed, much like Budapest in 1956. Tanks settled the question.

As West Berlin flourished, East Germany was on starvation basis in its press for development of heavy industry. The consumer was forgotten. The State came first, to the point that East Germany became the sixth largest industrial nation in the world.

The door had to close. As one man put it: "They couldn't compete, so they built a cage to keep them in."

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Philosopher Wants His Tractor Hijacked, Reflects On Rewards Russian Spacemen Get

Dear editar:

I was out here on this Johnson grass farm the other afternoon wondering why people are always picking on airplanes to hijack, you never hear of anybody hijacking a farmer's trartor and forcing him to drive off course to some distant place, when I shut the motor off on my own and got off and sat down under the shade of a tree and pulled out a newspaper I'd been carrying around in my pocket for several days as a standby in case I ran out of something to think about, and discovered it was an issue printed right after the second Russian flew around the earth in a rocket ship.

I had already known this latest flier had made seventeen trips around the earth and landed right back in Russia where he started from, which may be progress to some people but it isn't my notion of it, but what interested me was a paragraph saying this flier, justlike the other one who made it around the earth, would be given an automobile.

For conquering space, a Russian gets what us Americans are already swamped with. Funniest way to distribute automobiles I ever heard of, and it's also an index to what man really thinks about space. He may be curious about it, but once he's been out there, he sure is interested in getting back to earth and sampling some of the pleasures of the world, like driving an automobile or going to sleep in his own bed.

People are always talking about conquering space, but it's sort of like me conquering this Johnson grass farm. You can make a dent in it, but you never really get it conquered; the minute you turn your back, it starts closing in on you.

Understand, I-m not discounting what the Russian astronauts have done, but it sure seems like going to a lot of trouble to get a slap on the back and a new car when anybody in America can get the same thing just by walking into the nearest car dealer's show room and waving the downpayment.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

MARKETING QUOTAS

If wheat producers in the August 24 referendum give marketing quotas on their 1962 crop the necessary two - thirds majority, the new wheat stabilization law will become effective and U. S. Department of Agriculture officials estimate the change will save the nation's taxpayers about $50 million next year.

Lieut. Junius Peak

Ranger

"We located our man at Round Rock . . ."

Back in 1878 a hard riding, fast shooting gent named Sam Bass was holding up too many Texas banks and railroad trains. Not less than 150 Bass-hunters — detectives, marshals, deputies, Pinkertons, express and railroad agents — were after him. But it took a Ranger and his special company to catch and erase the bold, bad bandit at Round Rock, on July 20. Lieut. Junius Peak commanded those Rangers. Before this historic event June Peak had proved his cool courage and good judgment in quite a few encounters with enemies and outlaws. Twice wounded in the Civil War, Peak subsequently served as deputy sheriff and marshal at Dallas. He had successfully mopped up New Mexico's biggest band of cattle thieves, scouted Indians and charted waterholes in West Texas. In 1880 Peak left the Ranger service for more peaceful pursuits such as railroad construction in Mexico and ranching in Shackelford County — another Ranger to leave his signature on the pages of Texas history.

Texas lawmen have always served their state well — as have Texas industry and commerce. Providing payrolls and community revenue, one industry has also provided the refreshment of moderate beverages. In Texas the brewing industry "belongs." Brewers, wholesalers, retailers and the United States Brewers Association are working constantly in cooperation with today's lawmen, to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions.

Questions, Answers

How Sales Tax Works

Following is a brief question and answer resume on the effect of a new Texas sales tax which goes into effect September 1. It is written by the Texas Research League, James W. McGrew, director. -- Ed.

I. QUESTIONS FROM A CONSUMER

1. When does the tax go into effect? - September 1, 1961.

2. How much will this new sales tax cost me?

That will depend on how much you earn, how much you spend of what you earn and how you spend it. You may pay substantially more one year than you do the next because you happen to buy furniture or some other major item of taxable merchandise one year and not the next.

On the average, however, the American people spend about 24 per cent of their total income on items subject to this tax. This means that a man with an income of $5,000 a year will spend about $1,200 on taxable goods and will pay an annual sales tax of about 24.00.

3. What are the main things on which I will pay the sales tax?

Furniture, household and kitchen appliances, most clothing, household supplies, toys, restaurant meals and electric and gas utility services.

4. What are the main things on which I will not pay the sales tax?

Groceries, housing (whether you own or rent,) medical and dental expenses, insurance, telephone service, your car and the gasoline you buy to run it.

5. Why won't the tax apply to a car?

Because motor vehicles have been subject to a selective sales tax in Texas since 1941. That tax is now at the rate of 1½ per cent and will not be increased by the new sales tax bill. Because the state already levies taxes on such things as cigarettes, gasoline and beer, they too will be exempt from the new sales tax.

6. What about a television set which is already subject to a state tax?

The new sales tax will apply to television sets, but the old state tax has been repealed. Actually the tax on television sets, radios and air conditioners is reduced from 3 per cent to 2 per cent by the new tax bill. The tax on cosmetics is reduced from 2.2 per cent to 2 per cent.

7. How will I pay the tax?

When you buy something that is taxable, the retailer will add the tax to the purchase price. He will determine the correct tax by applying a tax "bracket", stated in the law, For example, purchase under 25 cents will not be taxed. If the price is between 25 cents and 74 cents you will pay a tax of one penny; the tax will be two cents on items costing from 75 cents to $1.24 and so on. Over the long haul, this bracket system is designed to average out to a 2 per cent tax on what you buy and it enables the retailer to collect the tax without the nuisance of stamps or tokens.

8. Can I get credit for this tax when I pay my Federal income tax?

Yes, this tax is levied on the consumer. Probably the Internal Revenue Service will shortly issue a special bulletin which will provide an easy way to determine how much of a deduction you may take. IRS has done this for all other sales tax states. Of course, you can always keep your own records and use them instead of the standard IRS deduction.

II. QUESTIONS FROM RETAILERS

1. Won't this be difficult for me to collect?

Collection of the new tax will impose some additional responsibilities on you and your employees, but similar duties are being handled with no great difficulty by 1,200,000 other retailers in the 35 sales tax states. Most retailers, including grocery stores, are already collecting some state and federal excise taxes and have some experience on which to rely.

2. How will I collect this tax?

By a prescribed bracket system which will tell you how much tax to add to any given sale. Briefly you will not collect a tax if the sale is less than 25 cents; if it is between 25 cents and 74 cents you will collect one penny tax; if it is between 75 cents and $1.24 you will collect two pennies and so forth.

3. Will I have to keep track of the pennies I collect?

No. you will pay the state a flat 2 per cent of your taxable sales. A test run in one large Texas department store indicated that the bracket would actually produce 2.02 per cent. In other cases it might be slightly less, but the vendor discount system will insure that you do not lose money.

4. What is the vendor discout system?

If you pay the State the tax due on your taxable sales within the time it is due -- that is before the last day of January, April, July and October, you will be permiteed to keep 1 per cent of the tax due to compensate you for your time and trouble and to make sure that the bracket system hasn't cheated you. If you will estimate your tax and pay it early, then the State will permit you to keep 3 per cent of the tax due. A warning is necessary, however: If you do not pay the tax when it is due, you lose all discounts and you will have to pay at least a 5 per cent penalty, and the delay the higher the penalty will grow.

5. Just how do I get the 3 per cent discount?

By the middle of the second month of the quarter, you must estimate and pay a tax for the entire quarter. Let us take an example: You estimate that you will sell $100,000 worth of taxable goods March Before Febrauary 15th, you file an estimated tax return with the Comptroller and send him a chech for $1,970 -- $2,000 estimated tax less 3 per cent discount. Then in April you will file an amended or final return. If it shows that you actually owed the state a tax of $2,100 you would remit an additional 99.00 -- the amount due the State less the normal 1 percent discount to which you are entitled on taxes remitted at the proper time.

6. Why was this pre - payment plan put in the law?

Because in the first year of the new tax there will be a collection lag. This device, it is estimated, will reduce the amount of collection lag by about $19 million. In effect, the pre - payment plan reduced the tax needs of the State by $19 million.

Name Suggestions Still Coming In For Baby Elephant

Contributions and name suggestions are coming in steadily for the Central Texas Zoo's new infant elephant. Buddy Porterfield zoo director said.

He said the $3500 goal which is the cost of the baby elephant is still very distant. Envelopes collected in the contest center in the Lake Air Mall have yielded $532.32 in cash and one unsigned IOU for $3500.00.

Porterfield said the Central Texas Zoo must pay the 3500 in 30 days or the elphant may be sold to a zoo which has the cash.

Collections of names and contributions will continue at Lake Air through the Zoo Mall which is scheduled for August 17, 18, and 19.

Suggestions for the elephant's name range from Hose - Nose to Mall-Z. One wild life fan suggested Harley Berg.

Final name for the elephant will be selected by the zoo directors and a committee from Lake Air Center.

Prizes of $50 each will be awarded a boy and girl whose names will be drawn from the contest cage wheel, August 19.

Ad Notes: Lucky Strike Runs Campaign In The Herald

The American Tobacco Company is currently running a series of Lucky Strike cigarette advertisements in Texas weekly newspapers, including The Herald.

It is American's first weekly newspaper ad campaign in a number of years. Some time ago, Lucky Strike was among the regular advertisers in the weekly newspapers of the nation.

Texas weekly newspapers were selected to run the test campaign, an eight-week schedule, out of the 50 states' weeklies.

Long a popular cigarette among smokers, Lucky Strike is conducting the current campaign in large display ads featuring the theme: "Remember how great cigarettes used to taste?"

New Tax Means $320,000,000

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Texas has crossed the great divide of controversy and entered the field of general sales taxation.

To the central collection point for the operation of the state's business, this means some $320,000,000 in the next two - year period.

To the individual taxpayer, the cost is unknown, but educated guesses already are being made.

James McGrew, research director for the Texas Research League, has estimated it will cost the average Texas family $25 to $30 a year, "maybe less if they don't buy any furniture or home appliances."

With some exceptions, the general sales tax will be two per cent on purchases of 25 cents or more.

Passage of the tax bill and the attending publicity caused a man and woman -- on the street to suddenly realize that there already was a state sales tax on such things as cosmetics and appliances.

Actually, the sales tax bill was only part of the tax package handed down by the lawmakers. In addition to the $320,000,000 estimated to come from this source, they passed a corporate franchise tax worth $20,500,000. They increased drivers' license fees by $7,250,000. They made a bookkeeping transfer of motor fuel tax funds totaling $4,000,000. They also taxed dedicated gas reserves $3,330,000. And they passed a bill designed to bring in some $3,000,000 from abandoned property.

In addition, the Legislature previously had passed a tax on private clubs, calculated to raise some $4,000,000.

Roughly, it is figured that all these things will cover the state's needs for the next two - year period, and provide for a school teachers' pay raise of $810 per year.

Escheat Bill Omits Banks

Gov. Price Daniel won a partial victory in his long fight to tighten the state's escheat law. It's the law under which abandoned cash and property held by private business and industry is supposed to revert to the state.

After several attempts the Legislature passed a bill requiring institutions holding such property to report it to the state. Banks however, were exempt from the provisions of the bill, much to the dismay of Governor Daniel.

"With everyone else covered," he said, "the banks cannot hold out much longer. The enforcement procedures should include banks and I shall continue to fight for this, both as a principle and as a means for the state to obtain property it already owns under the present escheat law."

Problem at Gatesville

Recent breaks at the Gatesville School for Boys and the death of an attendant beaten with a baseball bat, have focused attention on that institution which is without walls or barricades of any kind.

A delegation of attendants came to Austin, talked with Governor Daniel and complained that measures which they are allowed to take are too indefinite. They said no attendant is allowed to "discipline" inmates of the school. Sometimes the boys will mind and sometimes they will not.

Dr. James A. (Jack) Turman, Executive Director of the Texas Youth Council, told the men that changes were being made which would hlep. A maximum security unit is being built, a trade school is under contract and a double maximum security fence is in the works for the worst offenders

Legislative Council Swamped

The Texas Legislative Council has been requested by the Legislature to look into a host of things which may require new laws.

One request asks a study of the adequacy of the present cattle brand insepction laws. It was pointed out that Texas, unlike many other western states, has no statewide brand registration system, relying on county by county registration which permits duplication of brands.

Cox Begins 31st Year As Director

By Robert Mann

Francis Cox has been directing the Yoe High School Band for thirty years and in those years he has seen many teachers, principals, superintendents, coaches and band students come and go, yet he stays, a sure sign of a sucessful carreer in the world of music.

Mr. Cox was at the ripe age of seventeen when he assumed duties as director of the Belton High School band in 1926. From there he directed a band in Ft. Stockton, Texas, finished college and started building a reputation that is highly respected in music centers across the state. Besides directing, he is known statewide for his judging abilities and is called on several times a year throughout the state to judge contests.

It was pure chance that Mr. Cox became a band director, as he put it, "I was kind of forced into it."

It was in 1925 or 26 when, as an understudy in a photography studio Cox was offered the job of band director in Belton. "At the time I didn't have a full - time job, " he said, "and that was a full - time job so I took it." He was offered the position on the recommendation of his high school classmates.

"I worked with the band in Belton for about three years, until 1929, then I accepted a position at Ft. Stockton, in West Texas, a place you don't want to go."

At the time he came to Cameron, Cox was told that he might as well give up and go back where he came from, that he would never be able to organize a band here. He proved them wrong.

In 1932 he had a small 13 - piece band, composed fully of boys and men that played from the sidelines at football games at the old Lawless Green Field. A couple of years later the school offered their assistance and year - by - year have built up to the present one - hundred member YHS band.

Cox is a graduate of South Western University of Georgetown. Prior to that he attended classes at Mary Hardin - Baylor University.

He was the 1960 recepient of the McCullen Award. An annual award presented to the outstanding citizen of Cameron. He was also honored this year by having the Yoe Yoe, Yoe High Annuall dedicated to him and his service.

He is married and the father of one daughter, Mrs. Prather Lee Ward.

Vets, Orphans Applying Now For Education Aid

Veterans planning to train under the Korean GI Bill this coming fall or children eligible for War Orphans Education were urged today by the Veterans Administration to get their applications in now, rather than wait until the last minute.

By filing an application now, P. J. Mims, manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco pointed out, all processing can be completed long before classes start.

The VA manager said that hundreds of young men and women between the ages of 18 and 23, and whose veteran - parent died of a wartime service - connected cause, will become eligible for War Orphans Education this fall. This includes up to 36 months of schooling with an allowance of $110 a month for full -time schooling.

Also eligible are children of peacetime veterans whose death was caused by the actual performance of military duties or by extra - hazardous service, Mims said.

The War Orphans bill primarily provides opportunity for college and university training, but training in a wide veriety of schools below the college level is permitted -- such as technical institutes, business schools, some vocational or trade schools, and institutions offering training in medical and related fields.

Mims reminded living parents or guardians that young people eligible for War Orphans Education are required by law to receive VA counseling in the selection of courses. This is an added reason for early filing of applications he said.

Information and appications for Korean GI Bill training or for War Orphans Education may be obtained at any of the following VA offices: AUSTIN, 5th floor, Lowich Bldg. 11th and Guadalupe; TEMPLE, Veterans Administration Hospital; and WACO, 121 South Sixth Street.

Report From The Confederacy . . .

South Wins Missouri; Enemy In Full Retreat

By Robert Stonedale

SPRINGFIELD, Missouri, August 10, 1861 -- The roaring flames of savage war felled more than 2500 soldiers along the banks of Wilson's Creek in Missouri between dawn and noon today as Confederate and Missouri State troops halted a Federal drive toward Arkansas.

The dearly - bought triumph has ended the second Yankee attempt to invade the Confederacy; the first having failed three weeks ago in Virginia.

After being totally surprised by an unexpected Federal attack at 6 a. m. and nearly losing the battle to a force only half its size in the first 20 minutes, the untrained and half - armed Southern army hammered the Yankees with three furious assaults during six hours of bloody slaughter which closed with the shattered Federals in full retreat and the worn Confederate and Missouri troops in complete possession of the battlefield.

The victorious Southerners are now marching into this southwestern Missouri town while the surviving Union troops are fleeing in the direction of St. Louis with the Third Texas and Second Arkansas cavalry regiments in pursuit.

The casualties are the heaviest, compared to the number of men engaged, ever suffered in a battle fought on American soil. Dead men lie in windrows across the fields and along the banks of the creek, while every farmhouse for miles around is crowded with the torn bodies of the wounded.

Litter bearers are still searching the battlefield by torchlight tonight and supply wagons are rumbling through the streets bearing awful burdens of dead and maimed soldiers.

Confederates Surprised

The action opened at dawn this morning when the Federal commander, Brig. Gen. Nathaniel Lyon chose a bold policy and fell upon the Confederate camp with a surprise blow. The enemy had been through by the Confederates to be entrenched at Springfield awaiting attack. Brig. Gen. James Rain's First Missouri Brigade gave the alarm, and the startled Confederates found themselves suddenly in the defensive and faced with a powerful line of battle on the ridge of Oak Bluff.

The Confederate commander, Brig. Gen. Ben McCulloch of Texas, quickly ordered the Third Louisiana Infantry into a corn field where they could enfilade the flank of the attacking Federals. The raw Missouri troops were assigned to hold the center and part of the Arkansas Brigade was posted to protect the right.

Within minutes McCulloch had formed his 10,000 man army to repulse the enemy and a continuous roar of musketry filled the air. The Louisianians fired a half-dozen volleys into the advancing Federals, and then made a valiant charge in company with the Second Arkansas. Their attack drove back the Federal left flank, but the enemy attack on the center was succeeding.

The Missouri troops, still in confusion from the surprise were being torn to pieces and forced to retreat by the heavy Union artillery. Their gallant commander, Maj. Gen. Sterling Price finally rallied them for a few moments and then complete catastrophy threatened.

With great audacity, the Federal General had divided his forces and sent Col. Franz Sigel's column to attack the Confederate rear. While the troops in front were still falling back in the face of the Federals attack, shells from Sigel's guns began to tear great gaps in their ranks. McCulloch's forces were under attack front and rear and the Southerners were caught between two wings of the Federal army.

Brig. Gen. N. B. Pearce quickly moved part of one of his Arkansas regiments to face Sigel and ordered Reid's Battery of artillery to open fire. The fury of Reid's guns caused the German veteran to slow his movement and this proved his undoing for General McCullough now appeared on the scene.

Leaving the fight in front to General Price, the valiant Texan snatched up two companies of Louisiana infantry and rode to Pearce's aid. Sweeping off his hat, the Commanding General brought the handful of brave Pelicans forward.

Federal Cannon Captured

"Follow me boys," he shouted, "Let's go get those Dutchmen" With reckless bravery the General led the fiercely yelling Louisianians straight into Sigel's guns, killing the Union artillerymen and capturing five of the cannon. Behind them thundered the Third Texas and First Missouri cavalry in a follow - up charge.

It was too much for Sigel's men. They panicked and fled up the Fayetteville - Springfield road with the horsemen in pursuit. The Union cavalry deserted their comrades, and the Confederate horsemen killed or captured most of Sigel's infantry.

Freed of the danger to the rear, McCulloch and Pearce brought the remainder of the Arkansas troops to the front where Price and the Missourians had contained the Federal attack at the cost of heavy casualties. General Price had been shot through the left arm, but had refused medical attention and remained with his men.

The Union troops showed conspicuous courage as they held their positions and repulsed two furious counterattacks led by McCulloch and Price in person.

Their brave commander, General Lyon, had been wounded twice and had his horse killed under him. Shortly after 11 a. m. he was killed by a bullet which struck him in the chest.

For another half - hour the two armies fought steadily, while bursting artillery shells tore down trees and branches and started fires in the low brush. The continuous roar of the infantry rifles was wounded horses and men. A wall of smoke rose between the lines. The soldiers fired blindly into it, loading and firing without pause, while men fell by the hundreds on both sides.

About noon, the Federal fire began to slacken, and McCulloch ordered another general attack. Colonel Elknah Greer ordered the Third Texas cavalry to charge. The Texans suffered heavy losses when they hit the enemy lines, but they broke through and scattered the Union artillerymen.

The outnumbered Fedeals had taken all that men could stand and had begun to retreat even before the final assault reached them. McCulloch's infantry pressed on and the second great battle of the war ended in another victory for the South.

Missouri Troops Half-Armed

The carnage on the battlefield was terrible. Whole cmpanies were decimated, regiments shattered, brigades wrecked. Yet the men on both sides, most of them peaceful citizens only a few weeks ago, stood to their bloody work throughout the six hour fight as if they had been born and trained for battle.

But there is nothing glorious in war to match the cost. As the Confederate infantry reached the crest of Oak Bluff, a little Missouri recruit, not more than 16, was crumpled by a shell which tore through his thin ribs and rushed on with his life. At the same moment, his brother, marching beside him, was blinded by a bullet. Headless, legless bodies are scattered like some dreadful devil's toys along the line of the Confederate advance. The bright blood of Amricans of two persuasions stains the dark red earth of Missouri tonight and proclaims again that there is no glory in war.

The combined Confederate force included 1046 men of the Third Texas Cavalry, the 2300 man Arkansas Brigade and 5200 Missouri State Troops, only half of whom were armed. Other Arkansas mounted troops were brigaded with the Texas Cavalry and the Third Louisiana Infantry. The total force was 10,175. The Federal force was estimated to number about 6000.

HEY MOM!

Don't forget the School Supplies I Need

Now that school is opening once again, it is more important than ever to drive carefully. Watch out for children whenever you're driving around schools and playgrounds . . . whenever they're walking to and from school. Even though we teach our children the ways of safety, they sometimes forget. It's up to all of us to DRIVE with CARE everywhere!
